

Washington State Department of Health is hiring for Autism Grant Coordinator

In Washington, we take seriously our role as stewards of the next generation and know that our ability to raise healthy children who will lead tomorrow's communities requires smart and innovative thinking today.

The Healthy Starts and Transitions (HST) unit promotes integrated systems of care that improve access, linkages and coordination of health care and safe environments to assure children have the opportunity to achieve the healthiest life possible and develop to their full potential, starting at conception and into young adulthood. We are currently seeking a dynamic individual to serve as the Grant Coordinator for the AS3D (Innovation in Care Integration for Children and Youth with Autism Spectrum Disorders and other Developmental Disabilities Program) federal grant. This project will promote integrated state systems of care for Washington state children and youth with autism and other developmental disabilities, with a special focus on medically underserved populations, through family support and navigation and collaboration with professionals to increase knowledge and capacity of clinical and non-clinical providers and improve state and local policies.

If you can see yourself as an advocate for improving health for young children and their families, go to <http://tinyurl.com/DOH3389> to view the job description and apply.

- ❖ Full time, based in Tumwater at the base of the Puget Sound with fabulous outdoor recreation opportunities.
- ❖ Located between the urban areas of Seattle, Washington and Portland, Oregon.
- ❖ Salary range $49,308 to $64,620 per year based on experience.

Join the Washington State Department of Health to promote healthy starts and child development for all children!